Landing Page Search & Quick Search

"Landing Page Search", also known as "Quick Search", is a good starting point of your research. You can start with keywords. If you are unsure of which keywords to use or if you are searching unfamiliar terminology. This function supports natural language searching. You can enter non-technical, conversational language (e.g., "can injury from fights at work be identified as occupational injury?") and the search engine will search in titles and full text documents after conducting semantic analysis.

I. Landing Page Search

A single input box is provided for “Landing Page Search”. The search engine will simultaneously search for your keywords in titles, full text documents and other available fields.

Please click "sign out" and then close the browser window to safely log out of the system.

Select the content you would like to browse after initial search. Click the tabs ① indicating the relevant content type.

The screenshot shows the LexisNexis search results page for the query "corporate law". The page is in Chinese and displays a list of 10 search results. The first result is "From Walkovszky v. Carlton to the Supreme Court's Guiding Case XCMG v. Chuanjiao Industry & Trade Co., Ltd. — Piercing the Corporate Veil of Sister Companies (Chinese version)". The second result is "Minimizing the Risks that Legal Representatives Face (Chinese version)". The third result is "Major Highlights for Special Administrative Measures (Negative List) on Foreign Investment Access to the China (Shanghai) Pilot Free Trade Zone (2014) (Chinese version)". The fourth result is "Will Legal Representatives Certainly Be Held Criminally Liable For Crimes Committed By Corporations? (Chinese version)". The fifth result is "Counsel's Viewpoint: Corporate Social Responsibility And Chinese Corporations Going Global (Chinese version)". The sixth result is "Revision Of PRC Company Law: A New Regime For Registered Capital? (Chinese version)". The seventh result is "Guidance of the China Banking Regulatory Commission on the Corporation Governance Reform and Supervision of Bank of China and China Construction Bank (Chinese version) | (Chinese-English)". The eighth result is "King & Wood: Minimizing The Risks That Legal Representatives Face (Chinese version)". The ninth result is "Announcement on Seeking Public Comments on Guidelines on Corporate Governance of Commercial Banks (Draft for Comments) (Chinese version) | (Chinese-English)". The tenth result is "Corporate Insolvency Law of the People's Republic of China (Trial) (Chinese version) | (Chinese-English)".

At the top of the page, there is a search bar with the text "corporate law" and buttons for "New search" and "Narrow search". Below the search bar, there are tabs for "Legislation", "Cases", "Relevant articles", "Column", "Overview", "News", "Q&A", "Precedents", "Practical notes", "Newsletter", and "All". The "All" tab is selected. On the left side, there is a "Promulgation date" filter with a date range from 1948-01-01 to 2017-12-31. On the right side, there is a "Total 771 Records" indicator. At the bottom of the page, there is a contact information section and a copyright notice.

II. Quick Search

III. Functionality

A single input box is provided for "Quick Search". The search engine will simultaneously search for your keywords in titles, full text documents and other available fields. The content type "Laws and Regulations" is the default subject matter. You may also choose from several other content types ① for your search. Accessibility options are available to help pinpoint the contents you are searching for.

1) Click on the three connector buttons ② to the right of the input box, ie. "AND|++|", "OR|--" and "NOT|!" to connect several keywords (please refer to "Use of Connectors" for details of their operation).

2) You can search for a specific keyword by adding double quotation marks (in either Chinese or English input modes) ③ before and after the target keyword.

The screenshot shows the LexisNexis search interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the LexisNexis logo and the URL Lexiscn.com 律商网. Below this is a horizontal menu with tabs: Search, Legal news, Legislation, National standard, Cases, Administrative penalty, and Expert analysis. The main content area is titled "Content types" and contains a grid of checkboxes for selecting search criteria. A red circle with the number 1 is placed over the "Legislation" checkbox. Below the checkboxes is a search input section. It includes a "Search" label, a text input box containing "LexisNexis", a red circle with the number 3, a dropdown menu set to "All fields", and a red "Submit" button. A red circle with the number 2 is placed over the connector buttons "AND|++|", "OR|--", and "NOT|!".

Part 3

Advanced (Accurate) Search

"Advanced Search", also known as "Accurate Search", provides you with more search options. For example, if you know the specific document number, or you know part of the name of the promulgator when searching for a regulation, you can use "Advanced Search" to pinpoint your target document quickly and accurately.

I. Functionality

The screenshot shows the LexisNexis Advanced Search interface. On the left, a sidebar lists various content types: Legislation, National standard, Legal news, Cases, Administrative penalty, Newsletter, Foreign laws, Expert analysis, and Lexis newsletter. A red circle with the number 1 is next to the 'Search all' option. The main search area contains several filters: Title, Keyword(s) in content, Promulgation date, Effective date, Article ID, Promulgator, Effectiveness, Effective region, Subject, Industry, Jurisdictional level, Sort by, and Search scope. A red circle with the number 2 is next to the 'Administrative regulations' option under the Jurisdictional level filter. The bottom of the page includes a footer with contact information, terms, privacy, and copyright notices, along with the RELX Group logo.

If the advanced search brings up no results, you will be asked if you would like to conduct a quick search for the same terms and retrieve those results. Or you can click "Quick Search" (shown below) to submit a quick search for the same terms.

Search Conditions: [Title: taxation announcement jurisdictional: All] Result: 0

Sorry your advanced search result is zero. Would you like to conduct a simple search for the same condition?

By clicking "Yes" system will return simple search result automatically for you. You can click "No" to cancel simple search query

II. Narrow Search (Laws and Regulations)

The "Narrow Search" feature, shown on the left side of the search results page, is provided to help you further refine your search results.

- 1) Narrow Search by Promulgation Date ①: Drag the button to specify the date period.
- 2) Narrow Search by Effectiveness ②: Select the content based on the effectiveness of relevant documents.
- 3) Narrow Search by Effective Area ③: The "Effective Area" will filter your results in a similar way, this time by reference to the geographical area in which the document has effect.
- 4) Narrow Search by Jurisdictional Level ④: The "Jurisdictional Level" list, also on the left, shows all jurisdictional levels found within the search results. Clicking on any of these will display only the search results under that level.
- 5) Narrow Search by Category ⑤: The "Category" list on the left displays all categories and sub-categories found within your search results. If you click on any of the categories, just the search results within that category will be displayed.
- 6) Narrow Search by Industry ⑥: Filter the results by selecting the relevant industry

Minimum Custom Search

The "Minimum Custom Search" contains several pre-set terms useful for searching laws and regulations.

If the pre-set terms don't retrieve the results you need, you can switch to "Advanced Search" or further customize your search using the "Filter Terms" list. Click on the corresponding option in the drop-down list to customize your search terms in the "Minimum Custom Search" page. If you would like to remove the customized terms, you may reselect from the options in the drop-down list or click on the red "X" following the corresponding terms.

Part 5

Use of Connectors

"Advanced Search", also known as "Accurate Search", provides you with more search options. For example, if you know the specific document number, or you know part of the name of the promulgator when searching for a regulation, you can use "Advanced Search" to pinpoint your target document quickly and accurately.

I. Overview

Search connectors may be used in both Quick Search and Advanced Search.

(1) You can use any of the AND/++, OR/-- or NOT/! buttons to connect the keywords in your search, or key in "AND" or "++", "OR" or "--", "NOT" or "!" to connect the keywords. For example, if you input "foreign investment AND/++ income tax", you will find results which contain both "foreign investment" and "income tax". Please note that one blank space (under DBC case) both before and after the connectors will automatically be added if you use the connector buttons; if you key in the connectors, you should input the extra blanks manually. Connectors such as AND, OR or NOT should be typed in upper case.

(2) You can also use a blank to connect several keywords. For example, if you input a blank between "foreign investment" and "income tax", which means the same as "foreign investment AND/++ income tax", you will find results which contain both "foreign investment" and "income tax".

(3) If you have several keywords, you can use the connectors for many times. For example, "foreign investment ++ income tax ++ enterprise". However, you cannot use different connectors to connect different keywords. For example, "foreign investment -- income tax ++ enterprise" is a wrong use.

You can click on the corresponding buttons to add connectors in the input boxes.

II. Basic Use of Search Connectors

Select your search terms (a single term or a combination of terms), add them to the form according to the table below and start your search.

Search Method	Connectors	Examples	Applicable Scope
Search by a single term		If you are searching for contents relevant to inheritance tax, enter "inheritance tax" in the Content input box to find all documents with "inheritance tax" in the text.	Search for a specific target word or phrase
Search for two terms	"Term 1□++□Term 2" or "Term 1□AND□Term 2" or Term 1□Term 2	If you are searching for the contents relevant to interest tax relevant to foreigners, enter "foreign□++□interest" in the Content input box to find all documents which contain both "foreign" and "interest". Click on the title to view the full text.	Search for titles, contents, promulgating dates, promulgators or document numbers
Search for either term	"Term 1□--□Term 2" or "Term 1□OR□Term 2"	Enter "foreign□--□interest" in the Content input box to find the documents which contain either "foreign" or "interest".	Search for titles, contents, promulgating dates, promulgators or document numbers.
Search for a combination of terms	Freely select and combine the terms	If you are searching for the content on income tax relevant to foreigners, you may enter "income tax" in the Title input box and "foreigner" in the Content input box. This will locate documents which contain "foreigner" somewhere in the text and "income tax" in the title.	Accurate search for target results
Search by exclusive terms	"Term 1□!□Term 2" or "Term 11□NOT□Term 2"	Find documents containing Term 1 but excluding Term 2	For refining search results by excluding known unwanted results

User Center

I. Auto Search

Using "Auto Search", you can save search terms which you set using an advanced search.

LNC will automatically search for new content matching these terms on a regular basis and send such contents to you via email.

To save search terms from an advanced search, click "Envelope Tab/Auto Research Setup" towards the upper right of the advanced research results page (shown below).

You will be directed to the "Auto Search" interface in the "User Center". You can set up to 10 email addresses for each auto search. Updates can be sent via Auto Search Email on a daily basis.

II. My favorites

“My Favorites” includes the search terms you have saved (My Searches), the documents you are interested in (My Documents) and a record of English translation you have ordered (My Translation Orders).

1. “My Searches”

Include all the search terms which you have saved in course of advanced or quick searching, ie. the search terms which have saved by clicking “Save Search” on the advanced search results page or the quick search results page (shown below).

The search terms will be saved in the “My Searches” list under “My Favorites” in the User Center.

Three functions, including “Run”, “Edit” and “Setting Auto Search” are available in the “My Searches” page. Click on “Run” (shown below ①) to instantly run these search terms.

Edit(shown below ②): Click on “Edit” to edit the recorded search terms for future searches. Please note that the search terms cannot be edited if they were saved via Quick Search.

“Setting Auto Search” (shown below ③): Click on “Setting Auto Search” to save the results as an alert.

III. History

The “History” tool automatically records your searches (Search Parameter Record) and the articles you have viewed (Document Record).

“Search Parameter Record”: Automatically records the latest 100 terms you have searched for. You can directly run these search terms or edit them in the “Searched Terms Record” page for a new search.

“Document Record”: Automatically records the latest 100 documents recently retrieved. You may click on the title of any document to view the full text.

IV. Customized Setup

“Customized Setup” offers several custom options. The functionality is only available for ID users (you cannot use it if your account is IP fixed).

Default Landing Page: Please select from below columns as of landing page after log into Lexis China

Search Personalization: You can select default sort-by for search result and display mode for advanced search results for legislation etc.

Subject Setting: In this page, you can select any subject to be displayed on legislation landing page, and set those display order from left to right.

Newsletter subscription: You may subscribe any of the LNC E-newsletters.

Alerts Setup: You can use “Quick Alert Setup” to subscribe to updated information in certain categories, or use “Validity Alerts” to subscribe to alerts on changes in validity of laws and regulations.

Restore Defaults: Restore the original setup.

V. Validity Alerts

If you would like to receive an email reminder when the validity of any law or regulation changes, you can set up such a reminder using the following steps:

Option 1:

Step 1: After landing on the Advanced Search page for laws and regulations, set up the desired search terms and click on “Validity Alerts”;

Step 2: The page will switch to the Validity Alerts page within the User Center. Select the desired types of validity (for example, “Effective”, “Expired”, “Revised” etc.; multiple choices are available) and fill in the recipient’s email address. You can enter up to 10 email addresses: separate each with a semicolon when in English input mode.

Finally, click “Add E-mail Address” to finish setting up your Validity Alert. Now, when there is a change to the validity of any law or regulation within the terms and validity types that you have set up, the system will send you an email notification on this basis.

If you want to change the search terms in your validity alert, you can click the “Reset” button to reset the terms. You can also choose to “Delete” them, in which case your search terms will be expanded to cover all laws and regulations, meaning that you will receive validity alerts for all laws and regulations.

Option 2:

Enter the User Center and navigate to Alerts > Validity Alerts. Here, the default scope is all laws and regulations. You can click on “Reset” to set up more refined search terms.

Option 3:

Click on “Clock sign/Validity Alerts” on the search results page. You can then record your search terms as a validity alert. When using this option you also need to complete the setup process by following Step 2 of Option I, explained above.

VI. Quick Alert Set Up

The “Quick Alert Set Up” feature is available for ID users and accessible via the User Center. You can use this to select legal areas or industries you are interested in and set up alerts on those. When there is any content update relating to those legal areas or industries, you will receive an email alert.

The screenshot shows the LexisNexis website interface for setting up quick alerts. The top navigation bar includes links for Search, Legal news, Legislation, National standard, Cases, Administrative penalty, Expert analysis, International insight, and User center. The User center is currently selected.

The main content area is titled "Current: Home >> User center >> Alerts". It features three tabs: Alerts, Quick alert setup (which is active), and Validity alerts. Below the tabs, there are instructions: "Select a subject area or an industry category below. Updated content from within the selected topic will be sent to your registered email address." and "To give you the comprehensive results, we will return you both Chinese and English results."

The interface is divided into two columns: "Subject area" and "Industry". Each column contains a list of categories with checkboxes. In the "Subject area" column, categories include Constitutional & National Law, Civil Procedure Law, Intellectual Property Law, Securities & Futures Law, Insurance Law, Finance & Accounting Law, Business Administration Law, Medical Treatment & Health Law, Culture Law, Trade Law, Education & Gymnastics Law, Miscellaneous, Military Regulations, Product Quality Law, Criminal Law & Criminal Action, Environment Law, Press & Publication Law, Civil Law, Administrative Law, Company Law, Banking Law, Tax Law, Labor & Personnel Law, Transportation Law, Public Security Law, Investment Law, Construction Law, Civil Administration Law, Diplomacy & Foreign Affairs, Market Competition Law, Science & Technology Law, Resources Law, Land & Real Estate Law, and Communication Law. In the "Industry" column, categories include Advertising and Marketing, Arts, Entertainment & Sports, Chemicals, Education, Environmental Protection, Food Production and Processing, Hotel, Restaurants & Tourism, Manufacturing & Processing Industries, General, Services Industries, Professional and Technical Services, Retail & Wholesale, Telecommunications, Transportation, Agriculture, Automotives, Construction & Engineering, Energy and Electricity, Finance and Insurance, Government Services & Public Administration, Information Technology, Media, Metals, Mining, Paper & Forest Industries, Pharmaceuticals and Biotechnology, Real Estate, Science and Technology, Trade, and Utilities.

Below the category lists, there is a "Select product to search" field with the value "Lexis China, IP, Employment, 10". An "Email address" field is also present. A note states: "Note: you may add up to 5 email addresses, separating each with ;". A "Save" button is located at the bottom right of the form.

The footer contains contact information, terms, privacy, and copyright notices. The copyright notice states: "Copyright © 2017 LexisNexis, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved." The RELX Group logo is also visible.

Tips for Use of Laws and Regulations

I. Bilingual display of laws and regulations

The “bilingual display of laws and regulations” feature allows you to view the Chinese and English versions of a law or regulation side by side and paragraph by paragraph.

Click the “Chinese-English” button on the search results page for laws and regulations to access the Chinese-English display page, or click the “Chinese-English” button when viewing a specific law or regulation.

II. Selected Term Auto-search

You can select words or phrases with your mouse when viewing a document in order to auto-search those terms. The system will search for the selected words or phrases across the whole database and return the five most relevant results (shown below).

The screenshot shows a document with several articles. The term "established in accordance" is highlighted in blue. A pop-up window titled "Results for: established in accordance" is displayed on the right. The window includes a "Sort" dropdown set to "Relevance", a "Promulgation date" dropdown, and a "Document view" dropdown. There is a checkbox labeled "disable this function". The results list two items:

- Decision of the State Council on Establishing Administrative License for Administrative Examination and Approval Items that Must Be Retained [2004-06-29]
